I'd let Jimny buyers build their car twice.

If I were you

In the UAE, the next Jimny you see often looks nothing like the last one.

If I were Suzuki Cars UAE, I'd propose a collaboration with Tamiya. Give buyers a miniature Jimny to build and paint before the real car arrives.

Make the model. Get the real thing.

They send the model back. Suzuki builds the full-size Jimny to match the agreed specification. The miniature comes home at handover, in a personalised 3D frame.
